

Devin Williams – Biography

Devin Williams is a long-time resident of Antioch, having lived here with his family since 2002. Shortly after graduating high school in 2008, Devin would attend Los Medanos College where he would Major in Theatre and live out his dreams of becoming an actor. All was well and good until March 2020. Devin would soon be confined to his home and months after months, decided that the outside world had way more disparity and injustice going on than he could stand. It was in the summer of 2021 that Devin joined the community group ACCE, a group of neighbors throughout California fighting for housing, social, and economic justice. He helped organize tenants to win rent control and tenant anti-harassment in Antioch. Devin also joined forces with Reimagine Antioch, a group that built power in Antioch in the wake of the police scandal. Devin now works as the program coordinator for Lift Up Contra Costa and is excited to be a part of this historic police commission. Devin cares about family, community, and justice for all! He looks forward to working with his newly appointed colleagues to keep the city moving forward.
